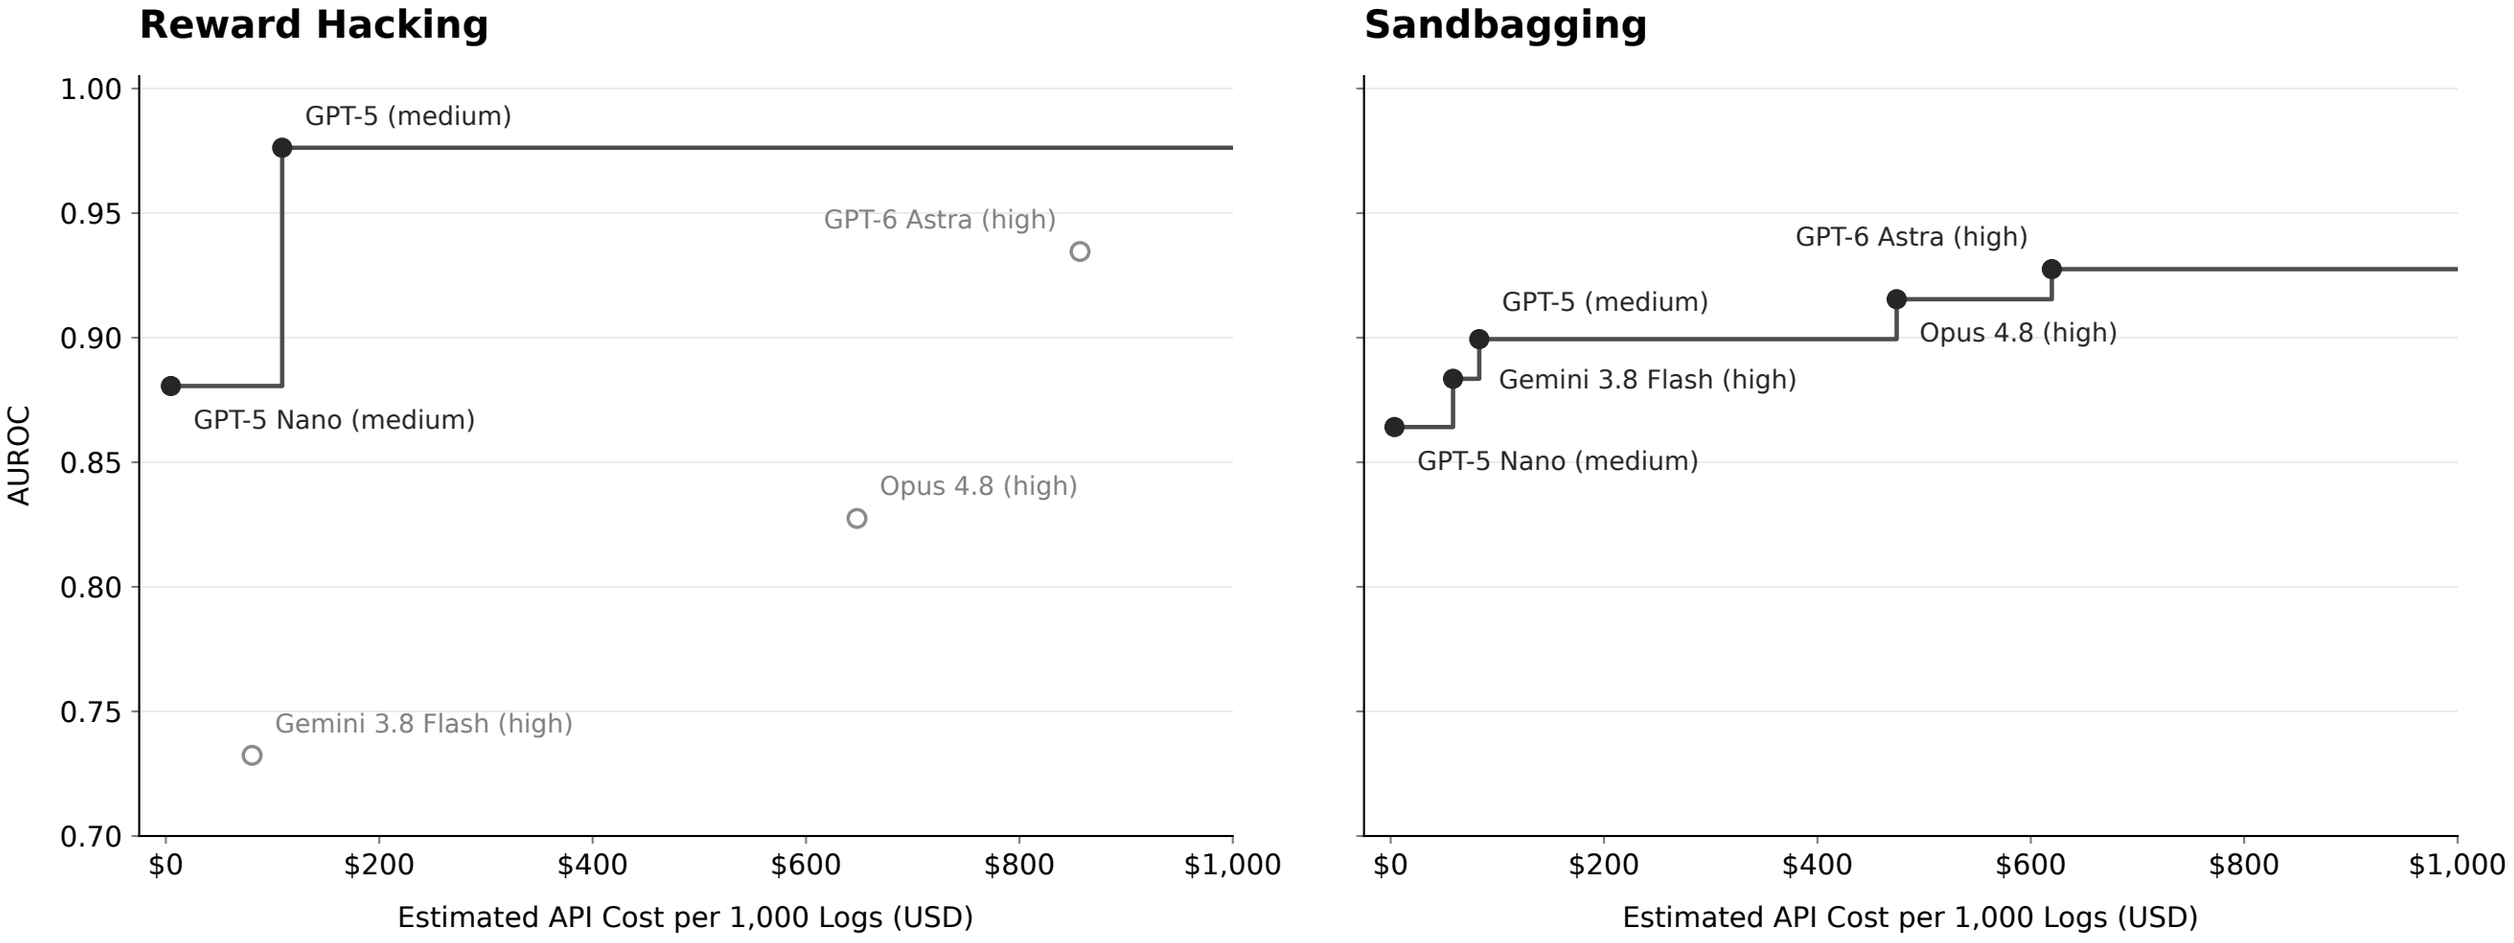
More expensive models do not perform noticeably better



AUROC is the area under the ROC curve, a measure of predictive performance where higher means fewer false positives and fewer false negatives.
Step line is maximum AUROC for a given cost.
API cost source: estimates based on Free Systems replication of METR MALT experiments.
AUROC Source: Free Systems replication of METR's MALT experiments.